

-- The United States requests your cooperation in implementing the sweeping economic sanctions and export control measures imposed to erode Russia's military and industrial capabilities in response to Vladimir Putin's reckless war of choice against Ukraine.

-- We have urgent information to provide you regarding Russian private and commercial aircraft that have been flown to Russia in apparent violation of U.S. export controls.

-- Effective February 24, 2022, the U.S. Commerce Department, through its Bureau of Industry and Security (BIS), imposed expansive and stringent controls on aviation-related items destined for Russia, including a new license requirement for specified aircraft or aircraft parts.

-- On March 30, 2022, the U.S. Commerce Department has identified additional commercial and private aircraft from third countries to Russia involving aircraft subject to U.S. export controls and controlled by or under lease to Russia or Russian nationals.

-- We thank you for your partnership in ensuring that companies and entities in your jurisdiction do not engage in any unauthorized transactions, including the provision of fuel and maintenance services, involving the publicly identified aircraft that were apparently exported or reexported to Russia in violation of U.S. Export Administration Regulations (EAR).

-- Complete list of the aircraft owners and operators, tail numbers, serial numbers, and aircraft types that the U.S. Commerce Department has identified since March 2 are listed below.

-- The aircraft identified after March 2 are listed in bold, below. Several aircraft whose previously identified tail numbers have been purported re-registered in Russia are also listed in bold.

-- Any subsequent actions taken with regard to any of the listed aircraft, including, but not limited to, refueling, maintenance, repair, or the provision of spare parts or services, risk being subject to the prohibitions outlined in General Prohibition Ten of the U.S. Export Administration Regulations (15 C.F.R. Section 736.2(b)(10)).

-- These actions may potentially lead to criminal and administrative enforcement actions, including fines, the loss of export privileges, addition to the Entity List, and other measures that will restrict the ability of the party to engage in international trade involving exports, re-exports, and in-country transfers subject to U.S. jurisdiction.

-- We urge you to take expeditious action consistent with your national authorities to ensure that persons and entities under your jurisdiction do not provide any services to these aircraft that would violate U.S. export controls.

-- We further urge you to reach out to all aviation service providers in your jurisdiction and ensure they do not provide any services to these aircraft, including provision of fuel, maintenance, airport handling, catering, aviation insurance, IT services, and others without any necessary U.S. Commerce Department authorization.

-- General Prohibition Ten's prohibition against services would include the provision of "safety of flight operations" services without authorization.

-- Thank you for your partnership on this issue. We would appreciate an update on your actions taken related to this matter, even if preliminary, as soon as possible.
